be obtained on Monday and Tuesday, May 14 and 15, in the rounda. Students will be expected to bring receipts. Under no circumstances will students be permitted to get copies of the annual unless they made arrangements to do so before the close of the subscription campaign. Only the required number was printed. There are no extra copies.

No copy of Kinnikinnick will be given out until the remaining $1.50 has been paid. This applies equally to all persons, faculty as well as students. If you haven't the money to pay for the book don't ask for your copy until you get the money. Kinnikinnick is not doing a credit business.—Management. Copies of Kinnikinnick may Kinnikinnick for 1923—an annual of 144 pages—will be off the press and ready for distribution Monday afternoon. This edition will be ready two days ahead of the time it was promised. The management hopes to make all collections and to pay all bills not later than May 20.

The 1923 Kinnikinnick is dedicated to Vice President C. S. Kingston, who, in the language of the dedicatory note, "has devoted the best years of his life to the upbuilding of the State Normal school at Cheney."

The engraving and the printing, according to the few who have examined the book in the making, are unusually good. Aleua Lanham and Claire Dawes did virtually all of the art work. The paper on which the book is printed has a dull finish, which makes the type much easier to read. It is a superior grade of paper, according to the printer, and has been on the market but a short time. The Chinook, the annual of the State College of Washington, will be printed on the same grade of paper this year.

Two pages have been left blank at the end of the advertising section for autographs. On the first page of the book there is a place in which the name and address of the owner may be written.

"Hard work by members of the staff has made it possible to complete the annual according to schedule," says J. Orin Oliphant, who has supervised the work. "Apart from the work of the various members of the staff, all of which has been good, the efforts which have been put forth by Florence Wendler and Hal Nourse are deserving of especial mention. Miss Wendler, with no previous experience, has directed the editorial work in a manner that would be creditable to an expert. The book speaks eloquently in her behalf.

"Kinnikinnick this year has journeyed over an unblazed trail. Nothing of the like has ever been attempted here. Consequently, there was no accumulation of experience to guide this year's staff. In order to avoid a deficit estimates were made very conservatively. It was not known whether advertising in any quantity could be obtained, and the annual was so planned that it could be financed without advertising.

"The enterprise of Hal Nourse, advertising manager, was responsible for the several pages of advertising. From the advertising Kinnikinnick will receive more than $150. This additional amount made it possible for the editor to increase the book from 128 pages, which was the size promised when the subscription campaign was started, to 144 pages. Through Mr. Nourse's efforts the annual has been made larger and better and the problem of financing the publication has been simplified. The management hopes to have a comfortable balance after all bills are paid. This surplus will be of great service to the management next year and will undoubtedly result in the publication of a much better book in 1924.

"Kinnikinnick, although much smaller, will compare favorably with any college annual in the northwest. The students owe a debt of gratitude to this year's staff. Unless one has had actual experience, it is impossible to appreciate the amount of work that

150 GRADUATES ASK FOR LIFE DIPLOMAS

In Recent Years President Showalter Has Given Life Diplomas in Person at Alumni Meeting.

Applications for life diplomas have been made by 150 graduates of the two-year course of the Normal school. A graduate is entitled to a life diploma after obtaining 24 months of successful teaching experience. In the next number of the Journal a complete list of applicants for life diplomas will be published.

In recent years it has been customary for President Showalter to give life diplomas in person to former students at the time of the alumni reunion. For the last two years many students have been coming to receive their diplomas. Plans for this year's alumni meeting are still somewhat uncertain, but it is believed that President Showalter will wish to continue this practice.

H. E. WETHERELL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Former Normal School Printer Buried Saturday Afternoon.—Survived by Wife and Young Son.

Horace E. Wetherell, instructor in printing at the Normal school from September, 1920, to August, 1922, died at his home in Cheney Thursday night after an illness of a year. Funeral services were held at the Cheney Christian church Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Wetherell was born in Iowa, March 19, 1882. While quite young he moved with his parents to Nebraska. He learned the trade of printer, worked for several years in the middle west, published country newspapers in Colorado and in recent years has been a resident of Washington. He has worked in Spokane, Seattle, and Yakima. For about two years he was employed by the Inland-American Printing company of Spokane.

Mr. Wetherell married Miss Vera Roeder, a teacher in the Cheney high school, on August 28, 1921. They have an infant son, Charles Stanley. Mr. Wetherell is also survived by his parents, who reside at Post Falls, Idaho, and by two brothers.

Spokane Pastor Talks

Arrangements for the service were in charge of Mildred Roberts, Rosamond Matteson and June McChesney.

BORROW MONEY FOR LOAN FUND

$500 of Organ Fund Will Be Used for Aid of Students During Summer.

TO PAY USUAL INTEREST

Administration Approves Plan for Temporary Relief.—Need of Larger Fund Shown.

Approximately $500 will be borrowed on June 1 from the pipe organ fund for use by the student loan fund committee during the summer quarter. This money, which has been accumulating steadily during the spring months, will draw interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum for the pipe organ fund and will be re-loaned to students at the usual rate of interest charged for student loans. Through this transaction, which has been approved by the administration, it will be possible to give assistance to at least 10 students during the summer. No money will be available from this source until after June 1.

The contract under which the pipe organ was bought provides for payments extending over a period of three years. This extension of time will permit the investment of a part of the sum already raised until such time as the payments fall due. By adopting the plan referred to above it will be possible for the organ fund to earn the usual rate of interest and for the institution to be of service to students who will need assistance to complete their courses.

"Measures which are being resorted to show that the student loan fund needs increasing," says President Showalter. "The arrangement whereby the loan fund will borrow $500 from the organ fund is only temporary. In a few months all of that money must be returned with interest. I consider the transaction good business, however, for everybody will gain by this arrangement.

"Within a few days the special student loan fund committee will be ready to present to the graduating class a plan to increase the loan fund. I trust that every consideration will be given the plan by the seniors and by others who are planning to teach next year. It seems to me that no better or more lasting memorial could be left behind by any class than a contribution to a cause as worthy as this. Students for many years to come will reap the benefits of what we do now. Senior classes have contributed generously to the pipe organ fund during the last two years, and I feel sure that this year's class will not fail to do something for a cause which is even more worthy.

"The needs of the school are much greater today than ever before. With the increase in attendance there has come a greater demand upon the student loan fund. We are forced to turn away deserving students because we have not enough money to meet their needs. We want to avoid, if possible, the necessity of refusing aid to worthy students."

BIG EVENT IN HISTORY OF WORLD

Delegates From Forty-Eight Nations Will Be Accredited by Conference.

MAY ORGANIZE A WORLD ASSOCIATION

Great Education Conference Being Held to Take Educational Inventory of the World.

"One of the biggest world conferences ever planned."

This is the terse comment made by President Showalter on the world conference on education which is to be held at Oakland and San Francisco from June 28 to July 6. President Showalter is a member of the committee on foreign relations of the National Education association and has taken an active part in planning the program for the world conference.

"Delegates accredited by the governments of 48 nations will attend this conference," says President Showalter. "It is one of the biggest things in education that has ever been conceived. We feel that it will go a long way toward promoting a better understanding among the civilized peoples of the world and thus aid in reducing the danger of wars.

"It will not be our purpose to endeavor to reform the world in a day, but we do hope to have developed by 1930 a world-wide policy in educational matters. This conference has been called for the purpose of taking an inventory of the educational forces of the world; that leaders in educational thought in all of the civilized nations may exchange ideas and take home with them helpful suggestions for improving conditions in their respective countries.

"A great pageant, showing America's contribution to education, will be given by the school children of San Francisco. This will undoubtedly be an impressive spectacle. By means of the radio a part of the proceedings of the conference will be broadcasted throughout the United States. How extensive this service will be is not yet known."

A World Education association may be the outgrowth of the conference. What the nature of such an organization would be, where it should meet and how often are questions which nobody has attempted to answer, but the hope has been held out by many who have dreamed of great things to come from this conference that there will eventually come an organization capable of shaping the ideals of the teachers of the world; an organization that will bring the nations of the world together in the same manner that the various sections of the United States have been brought together through the work of the National Education association.

"There may come also," says an announcement of the committee, "an international clearing house for education, such organization to be made up of representatives selected by the principal educational associations of the several countries. This should be the means of conveying a 'concert of opinion' on important questions to all peoples."

DEFER DEDICATION OF BOYS' DORMITORY

Sutton Hall Will Be Occupied During Summer, but Dedication Will Take Place Next September.

Sutton Hall, which will be open for men students at the beginning of the summer quarter, will not be formally dedicated until the opening of the fall quarter, according to the present plans of the administration. While the dormitory will be ready for occupancy next month, all of the detailed interior work will not be completed when the summer quarter opens. Under no conditions could the building be properly dedicated at the opening of the summer quarter.

President Showalter will leave for California to spend the summer a short time after the opening of the summer quarter, and he is very anxious to be present when the building is dedicated. His absence is another reason for deferring the matter until autumn.

All equipment for the dormitory has been bought. It is planned to have the dining room and the sleeping quarters finished by June 4. The work remaining thereafter can be continued, it is believed, without inconvenience after the summer quarter is started.

Journal Director Honored By The State University

Work Lauded by President and Kingston

J. Orin Oliphant, executive secretary of the Normal school and director of the State Normal School Journal, has been awarded the Arthur A. Denny fellowship in history by the University of Washington, and will enter the graduate school there in September. This fellowship, according to Professor Edmond S. Meany, head of the history department, is one of the highest honors the university can bestow upon a student.

Mr. Oliphant was graduated from the Normal school with distinction several years ago, and later received the A. B. degree magna cum laude from the University of Washington in 1916. Since then he has taught history in the Cheney high school, served in France during the war engaged in newspaper work and has been a member of the Normal school faculty since June, 1921. He is a member of the honorary societies of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa.

In speaking of Mr. Oliphant's leave of absence, President Showalter said: "Mr. Oliphant's work as executive secretary has been the means of bringing the State Normal school before the people of the northwest. We especially appreciate his work in connection with the State Normal School Journal; he has succeeded in giving the publication a newsy tone, and I feel proud to compare it with any school newspaper. We regret very much to lose Mr. Oliphant even for one year. However, he is going on leave of absence and will return to us when he has finished the work for his master's degree at the university."

"While Mr. Oliphant has been supervisor of the Journal the publication has developed into a real newspaper and has achieved higher journalistic standards than ever before in its history. In its present status the Journal can be ranked with any school publication in the west," said C. S. Kingston this morning in discussing Mr. Oliphant's work.

While a student at the university Mr. Oliphant was assistant editor of the University of Washington Daily and later became acting editor of the Cheney Free Press, a local newspaper.

"I have enjoyed my work with the State Normal School Journal most fully. I think educational journalism is a broad and interesting field," Mr. Oliphant says.

During the past two years Mr. Oliphant has been a worthy master of the local Masonic lodge, secretary of the Cheney Commercial club and is county commander of the American Legion.

Besides the responsibility of directing the Journal during the year Mr. Oliphant has supervised practically all of the business and editorial work connected with the annual which is appearing Monday. This is the first real annual to be published by the school, and was only made possible by Mr. Oliphant's active interest in promotion and direction.

PRESIDENT LIKES SCHOOL ANNUAL

President Showalter Commends Staff for Excellent Piece of Work.—Thinks Book Attractive.

"I am one of the few who have been permitted to inspect the annual, and I want to say that the staff has done a bit of work that is very creditable to the institution," said President Showalter recently. "The material that has been assembled is in every way representative, and I don't believe that we could ever expect to get better workmanship than has been put on this year's Kinnikinnick. The cuts, the paper on which the book is printed, the style of type used—everything, it seems, has been selected by the engravers and the printers with a view to making the work attractive. I am sure that nobody will be disappointed when he receives his copy next week. I want to take this opportunity to commend the staff for the excellent work that has been done. I am sure that we can depend upon a good annual for every year hereafter."

MEN OF SCHOOL ORGANIZE Y. M. C. A.

Lyndle Cooper Named President of New Organization.—Meetings to Be Held Weekly.

Men of the Normal are organizing a Y. M. C. A. About 20 men have signified their intentions of joining the new organization. At a meeting held Wednesday night the following officers were elected: Lyndle Cooper, president; Clarence Jayne, vice president; Gale Ayars, secretary-treasurer.

Plans are being made to send a delegation to the Y. M. C. A. conference of college men, which will be held at Seabeck next month.

Weekly meetings will be held Wednesday evenings in the Y. W. C. A. room.

The N. E. A. Journal

Have you read the May number of the Journal of the National Education association? Do you know that it contains an article on the Pacific northwest, written by Professor Edmond S. Meany of the University of Washington? Do you know that it contains several other articles that could be read with profit to yourself? Among the topics discussed are "Teachers and World Peace," "The Coming Curriculum" and "The Junior-College Movement." There are also numerous articles on educational costs and announcements of general educational interest.

"The Test Controversy" is an article written by Virgil E. Dickson, director of the bureau of research and guidance, Oakland and Berkeley, Calif. Mr. Dickson was principal of the Training school of the Normal from 1911 to 1916. He did his graduate work at Leland Stanford university.

Students of the Normal school should cultivate the habit of glancing through the state and national educational journals frequently. Even though you may not have time to read much of the material, it is decidedly worth while to know what subjects are being discussed by educational leaders. Learning where to find material when it is needed is the most essential part of one's education.

Kinnikinick—1923

The 1923 edition of Kinnikinick will be ready for delivery next Monday. Unusual efforts have been made by the staff to make the annual what it should be—a pictorial souvenir of the school year. Within the limitations which could not be overcome the staff has succeeded. A larger book than was promised has been turned out. The cost is less than was anticipated. There is every reason to believe that the management will have a favorable balance. These things speak well for the editor and for the business and advertising managers. It is hoped that they will be given due consideration by the students and that unwarranted criticisms will not be made. Errors of omission as well as of commission undoubtedly will be discovered. It would be miraculous if an annual were ever published and kept entirely free from errors. It is believed, however, that the 1923 Kinnikinick is as free from typographical and clerical errors as it is possible for a college annual to be.

Interest in the Journal

Interest which has been taken in the Journal in recent weeks—an interest that has led many to wander to the printing shop to read the pages while they are being printed—is much appreciated. The staff feels highly flattered, especially when the interest extends to the point of carrying the information away and disseminating it generally before the day of publication. This practice is decidedly advantageous from the standpoint of health, for it precludes the possibility of heart failure on the part of somebody who might otherwise read the paper and discover something about which he had had no previous knowledge.

In the hope that this interest will be kept up, and if possible, extended, the business staff of the Journal is considering the feasibility of holding "open house" on Wednesday and Thursday while the printer is at work on the Journal. It would be altogether distressing if anything should appear about anybody that hadn't been thoroughly discussed on the campus in advance of publication.

There is, of course, no connection between the common courtesy of not examining letters and statements until they are made public and the practice of informing one's self in advance about what is likely to appear in a publication.

About Literary Letters

Those who succeed in athletics are awarded sweaters and letters. To win these is considered, and rightly so, a great honor. But what of the student who spends hours, days and weeks of time in preparing an annual for the students to examine for years to come? Should he or she receive no special recognition? Is it more important to be a member of the basketball team than to edit the school paper or the school annual?

During the last year a few students have worked diligently to make the the Journal readable each week. Others have labored that the annual might be a success. Only those who do work of that sort know how difficult it is. There is no crowd on the sidelines to "root." There has not been any hope of reward for work well done save that inward satisfaction which comes to those who achieve. The only outward expression of opinion that comes to the editor of a school paper as a general rule, is a "kick." When people are satisfied they keep still; when they are not they make a big noise.

These things are generally anticipated by those who accept the responsibility of an editorial position. Only students who are not afraid of work "stand up" under the strain. It is fitting, therefore, that they should receive some special recognition for their hard work. Could not the student advisory board, or the group that has in its charge the making of student awards, devise some form of special recognition for the students who have carried the heavy burdens of the Journal and Kinnikinick this year? School will soon be out. Action of some sort should be taken at once.

SALVAGE DEPARTMENT

Edited by

O. G. WHIZZ

Confined to the beaten paths of tradition, the ordinary journalist overlooks or discards much that is of vital interest to humanity. It is the purpose of the editor of this department to gather up the broken bits of news, weld them together and make them serve useful purposes. Motto: "What others discard we pick up."

Making the Courts Safe

Dr. Conway and A. M. Shaffer have given the new tennis courts down town a medical and chemical examination and announce that it will be perfectly safe to play upon them when they are completed.

The Open Season

The summer school bulletin announces that the fall season of the Normal school will open Sept. 17. We suppose that this opening applies only to game upland birds and wild prairie chickens. The season for ducks and geese, we are informed by the county game commission, does not open until October. The season for fish is open all the time.

Kinnikinick—1923

We don't want to be forever kicking about things, but we wonder why the editor of Kinnikinick didn't give us more space and more favorable mention than some of the other organizations. We are registering this kick in advance for we know that we didn't get nearly as much publicity as we are entitled to. The editor doesn't like us very well because we approved of Daisy Talkson's resignation.

Dancer Drops Dead

After dancing 87 hours without stopping, Homer Morehouse of North Tonawanda, N. Y., dropped dead on the floor. Physicians said his death was due to heart failure. Take heed before the formal gets you.

Visiting High Schools

J. Orin Oliphant left Saturday night for Walla Walla. He will spend all of this week visiting high schools in southwestern Washington and in the Palouse country.

Arithmetic

He's teaching her arithmetic.
He said it was his mission;
He kissed her once, he kissed her twice
And said, "Now, that's addition."
And as he added smack to smack
In silent satisfaction,
She sweetly gave him kisses back
And said, "Now, that's subtraction."
Then he kissed her and she kissed him,
Without any explanation;
They both together smiled and said,
"Now, that's multiplication."
But dad appeared upon the scene
And made a quick decision.
He kicked the lad three blocks away.
And said, "That's long division."

Nobody ever added up
The value of a smile;
We know how much a dollar's worth;
And how much is a mile;
We know the distance to the sun;
The size and weight of the earth;
But no one here can tell us just how much a smile is worth.

TRACK TEAM LOSES; BASEBALL NINE AHEAD

Normal Track Men Lose in First Meet of Season.—Baseball Team Regains Conference Lead.

The Normal track team did not do so well as expected in the triangular meet with Gonzaga and Whitworth at the Gonzaga Stadium last Saturday, but were able to gather 17½ points to Whitworth's 29 and Gonzaga's 84½.

Most of the Normal's points came by taking second places, and in these events it was always a Gonzaga man who took first, so the track team will be sure to give a very good account of itself in the conference meet.

Neeley of Whitworth was high point man of the meet with a total of 16 points—three firsts and one third. Clizer of Gonzaga was second with 13 points.

Points for the Normal were made by Farnsworth, Garred, Wynstra, Quinn, Blauert and Turner.

Farnsworth took second place in the discus throw and broad jump, six points.

Garred, second place in the two-mile run, three points.

Quinn, second in the shot put, three points.

Wynstra tied for second place in the pole vault, 2½ points.

Blauert third in the half mile and low hurdles, two points.

Turner, third in the high hurdles, one point.

Total, 17½ points.

The Normal relay team came in second in the mile relay race.

The Normal baseball team stepped back into the lead in the conference by winning from Whitworth on the Whitworth grounds last Friday with a score of 15 to 8.

The Normal had the long end of the score throughout the entire game, the score standing 13 to 3 in the seventh inning. Whitworth scored two on what many claimed was a foul ball and made a desperate attempt to win in a ninth inning rally in which they scored three more, but the Normal had too great a lead to be overtaken.

Callahan had the Whitworth men almost entirely at his mercy during the first part of the game, striking out eight batters in the first three innings, but lost some of his control near the end of the game and issued several passes. Callahan struck out 14 Whitworth batsmen, while six Normal men were retired in the same manner by Whitworth's pitchers. Stoneman being credited with four and Hills with two. Callahan walked nine and allowed six hits, while the Whitworth pitchers passed two men and allowed 11 hits. Ten errors were charged to the Whitworth team and five to the Normal men. The Normal made the only double play of the day—Quinn to Moore. Moore got two two-base hits and Callahan poled one out for three bases and came on around without stopping when the third baseman missed the ball that the fielder pegged to him.

Much discussion was aroused last week as to the real identity of Daisy Talksom. As a matter of fact, speculation has run riot. Undue modesty on the part of the person who contributes the delightful gossip in the "Daisy Talksom" columns has restrained a certain well known person from signing his own name. In an effort to remove any stigma of doubt that might be cast our way, we take this opportunity to announce that "D. T." is none other than a versatile and talented journalist who is at present visiting "high schools in southwestern Washington and the Palouse" (see elsewhere). So sleuth it out for yourself.

Normal track athletes will be given another chance to show their skill this afternoon in a meet with the State college freshmen at Pullman. GET TINY GLIMPSE OF CHAMPIONSHIP

Baseball Championships at Normal in Recent Years Rare as Uncooked Beefsteak.—Track Better.

A baseball championship for the Normal school—something as rare in recent years as uncooked beefsteak—is showing itself in the offing. The victory over Whitworth last Friday brought the Normal team to the head of the conference again, and the coach believes that he can keep it there for the remainder of the season.

With the approach of warm weather the coach believes that the men will "limber up" and put some more "pep" into their work. The danger point so far as the conference is concerned is already passed, he believes.

Prospects for track, while not exactly bright, are expected to improve during the next two weeks, and when the conference meet is held on Friday, June 1, the coach believes that the Normal men will have an even break with Whitworth and Spokane university.

Unless more interest in tennis develops soon, Coach Eustis declares that he will drop the activity.

CLASS REPRESENTS VERY LARGE AREA

Many Counties of Washington and Numerous States Have Students in Normal Spring Class.

Approximately 426 diplomas or certificates will be granted to students by the Normal school at the close of the spring quarter, June 1. Two students have applied for the four-year diploma, seven for the three-year diploma and 94 for the two-year diploma. One hundred and seventy-three have applied for the elementary certificate. About 150 life diplomas will be awarded.

During the year 1922-23, which ends next August, it is estimated that 700 diplomas or certificates will be awarded. This is a new record for the institution.

The 94 applicants for the two-year diploma are representing 15 counties of Washington and six other states. The various counties and states are represented as follows:

Spokane, 43; Whitman, 7; Adams, 2; Garfield, 1; Walla Walla, 1; Chelan, 2; Stevens, 4; Skagit, 2; Lincoln, 3; Whatcom, 1; Snohomish, 2; Pierce, 2; Columbia, 2; Benton, 2; Grays Harbor, 1; Oregon, 4; Idaho, 10; Texas, 1; Montana, 2; Nebraska, 1; Minnesota, 1.

Representatives of 21 counties of Washington and three other states are included in the list of 173 applicants for the elementary certificate, as follows:

Spokane, 40; Ferry, 5; Stevens, 14; Franklin, 1; Walla Walla, 7; Whitman, 27; Columbia, 2; Grant, 6; Benton, 4; Garfield, 3; Lincoln, 12; Pend Oreille, 4; Asotin, 4; Klickitat, 2; Adams, 8; Chelan, 3; Okanogan, 2; Skagit, 1; Lewis, 1; King, 1; Yakima, 1; Idaho, 16; Oregon, 6; Montana, 3.

No Innuendo Intended

In a story about the annual this week it is said that the book is printed on "dull finish" paper. That means just what it says and nothing more, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

TWELVE SIGNED FOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT

"The Normal tennis courts will be put in shape within the next few days and the tournament will be played off as soon as possible," says Coach A. A. Eustis. "I am very much disappointed in the fact that so little interest is being shown in tennis. Up to the present time only 12 students have signed up for the tournament. There should be many more."

Those who have signed up to play in the tournament are:

Men's singles, Arthur Church, Earl Grant, Con Callahan, Arthur Stram, H. J. Quinn and Homer Davis.

Men's doubles, Earl Grant and H. J. Quinn.

Girls' singles, Agnes Schelling, Edith Lowry and Agnes Nordland.

Girls' doubles, Wilhelmina Dawes and Harriet Macomber.

Mixed doubles, Agnes Schelling and Arthur Stram.

Believe It Or Not

What were women like a hundred thousand years ago? A number of French professors have been trying to find out, and some very interesting results have followed their search. They say that in the days when people lived in caves woman was the more important of the two sexes. Men were only tolerated for the sake of the food and skins they provided. Women ruled everything, and almost every art and science we have today is due to the work of the women of thousands of years ago. Women taught men how to defeat famine by snaring animals and storing them for times when food would be unobtainable. Women taught men how to get skins to clothe themselves in the winter. Women, in fact, saved the human race from being destroyed. Since she was not strong enough to kill her enemies or provide food and clothing woman had to use her wits and employ cunning instead of force. Every labor-saving device we have today is descended from the early inventions of a woman. Altogether it seems that woman thousands of years ago ruled man in almost exactly the same manner that she does today!—London Tit-Bits.

Another Marathon

Dr. W. J. Wilson informs us that he is much peeved because Mr. Kingston has "edged in" and stolen his thunder about a marathon; but in order to let the world know that he is original he is planning a marathon bicycle race for the Boy Scouts of Cheney and will ride at their head.

BALL TEAM FACES A HEAVY SCHEDULE

Three baseball games in eight days will give the baseball team a pretty busy week, with a possibility of a fourth game to be played early in the week following.

Thursday, May 17, the State college freshmen will be here for a return game, and a game with the Cheney Athletic club is tentatively scheduled for the next Saturday.

The Spokane college game, which was to have been played last Thursday, was indefinitely postponed, but must be played early in the week, and the conference title will be at stake when this team and the Normal team meet.

Tomorrow afternoon the Normal meets Spokane university at Spokane in the final game of the series between the two schools.

Them Wild Cheney Girls!

From a Cheney Normal student, now attending Bellingham Normal comes this story of pranks in Cheney. The girls who lived in the dormitory were a lively group looking for a gay time, wherever they might find it. One day they discovered a way to the roof through the linen closets. Arriving on top of the roof they experienced a delightful sense of being out of the reach of critics teachers, matrons, deans, etc., etc., and being free for a while. They tore around on the roof playing such games as "tag" and "Farmer in the Dell" quite innocently unaware of the presence of the matron on the campus below. Then, quite accidentally, it happened that they played too near the edge, and quite naturally of course, the gravel fell from that particular place which was directly above the matron's head. The announcement was soon made that the linen closets would thereafter be kept locked.—Bellingham Messenger.

Dedication of Live Stock Number

Although we are somewhat late in making acknowledgements, we wish to announce that last week's number of the Journal was dedicated to C. S. Kingston. This honor has been conferred upon him because he is the only man in the institution who knows when the first bull was brought to the northwest. He didn't bring it, however. Mr. Kingston has collected a great deal of valuable live stock data in recent weeks.
